1 What this is

A complete, done-for-you ordering system for Elan's cake department. Ella, your dedicated AI voice agent, answers the cake ordering line, takes orders, and turns phone enquiries into paid orders without a single missed call. You have already seen the bespoke cake designer in action. This proposal covers what it costs, how we support it, and how it grows with you.

2 How Ella works

When a customer calls the cake ordering line:

1. Ella answers immediately, every time, 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Even when two or three customers call at the same time, every call is picked up. No busy line, no waiting, no missed order.
2. Standard cakes: Ella takes the cake selection from your current range, the customer's name and contact details, and sends a secure payment link.
3. Custom cakes: Ella sends the customer a link to Elan's bespoke cake designer, where they build their cake step by step and watch the design come to life as they choose.
4. Payment is taken through Stripe, with funds paid out to Elan every two to three days. Card details are handled entirely by Stripe and never touch our systems or yours.
5. Every completed order lands in Click Pro, your order management dashboard, ready for the kitchen: an image of the order and exactly what the customer chose and agreed, all in one place. No paperwork, no notes passed back and forth.

3 Reliability and support

A system like this is only as good as its worst day. Here is what stands behind Ella:

- Continuous monitoring. We watch the system so you never have to. If anything needs attention, we know before your customers do.
- Monthly service report. Every month you receive a thorough report: calls answered, orders processed, revenue taken through Stripe. You will always know exactly what the system is doing for you.
- Menu and product updates. Up to 10 updates each month are included, live within 48 hours of your request. New cakes, price changes, seasonal ranges.
- A dedicated account manager at Click. One person who knows your account, with a response the same business day. No ticket queues, no call centres.
- Quarterly service reviews. Every quarter we sit down together, review the numbers, and plan what comes next.
- Trusted infrastructure. Payments run on Stripe. Voice and hosting run on enterprise-grade infrastructure built for continuous availability.

4 Built once, deployed per branch

The London build is the foundation. Because the design and system already exist, every future Elan branch can be deployed in a fraction of the time London took.

Each branch runs as its own deployment: its own phone line, its own Stripe account and currency, its own menu and pricing, its own operating hours and time zone, its own monitoring and included minutes. This keeps every branch fast, accurate, and locally right.

The Ella platform, the cake designer page design, and the underlying systems remain the property of Click AI Agency and are licensed to Elan Cafe per site under the service agreement.

5 Investment
